Introduction

The Expert Committee on PRTC met six times during the year 2014 and new members were appointed depending on the objectives of the committee.

Activities conducted by the Expert Committee on PRTC during 2014

1. Recruitment of new members
2. First Aid training for three wheeler drivers through collaboration with the College of Surgeons, Sri Lanka and the National Road Safety Council to conduct this training. This training was justified taking in to account the important service done by three wheeler drivers at the scene of road traffic crashes. As Sri Lanka does not have paramedics or an ambulance service to transfer the injured from a road crash, this at present is done by the three wheelers and the committee decided that training this group of people would be useful in reducing complications of injuries and proper transfer of the injured.
3. Collaboration with the Parliamentary Select Committee for the Prevention of Road Traffic Accidents was initiated and the Chairperson attended the Parliamentary committee meeting and represented the Expert

- Committee on PRTC at the select committee. The committee decided to meet the Chairperson of the parliamentary committee and then conduct a workshop for the committee members.
4. A CD on road safety made by a member of the committee was edited and finalized. This will be distributed to the schools through Lions Clubs in 2015.
 5. The Expert Committee on PRTC was involved in the updating form 297B of the Traffic Police with the World Health Organization (WHO).
 6. Safety corridor – World Bank – The Expert Committee on PRTC was involved in this initiative through the World Bank.
 7. A webinar was planned to be conducted in collaboration with Centre for Disease Control, USA through Dr. Achala Jayatileke, to coincide with the road safety week. Dr (Mrs) Kumari Navaratne volunteered to make arrangements to provide videoconferencing facilities in the World Bank for the webinar. Unfortunately, due to fund restrictions in the USA, this was not conducted.
 8. Collaborated with the National Road Safety Council in Road Safety initiatives in the country.
 9. Submitted several articles on the problem of road traffic injuries in the country for national and international conferences.
 10. The RTAPC conducted the lectures on the prevention of road traffic crashes in the 'Training on Acute NCDs for Public Health Staff' organized by the Non-Communicable Disease (NCD) Unit of the Ministry of Health which was held in Colombo on November 27-28, 2014. REPORT

(Presented by Dr Sunil Seneviratne Epa)

There had been little or no progress with the committee's efforts to launch the National CPD Programme, inspite of our having published all necessary guidelines with a point scheme for the past 3 years. Committee made all its efforts to secure the recognition of the Ministry of Health for this matter, but failed. However there is still hope that with continued pursuance we will succeed in launching the National CPD programme, which we continue to consider to be a vital tool for the professional development of doctors in Sri Lanka.

In the meantime we continue to issue the National CPD Certificate (NCPDC) through the SLMA office to whoever who submit their portfolios prepared as per published guidelines, upon scrutiny. Unfortunately the number of such applicants had been very few as there is currently no incentive scheme for doctors who obtain the NCPDC. Mostly such requests have come from doctors wanting to seek either a training post or employment abroad as at least they seem to realize the value of having this certificate. It is recommended that the SLMA gives more publicity through Newsletter/ Outstation meetings, of the availability of this facility for doctors to be certified in CPD pending the launch of this programme at national level.
